the president

Dr. Doak S. Campbell

Concluding his sixteenth year as President of the Florida State University, Dr. Doak S. Campbell, one of the nation's foremost educators, will retire from an active career in education this year.

During his administration here, Dr. Campbell has seen the campus change from a woman's college to a co-educational university, more than double in enrollment, and has helped put into effect the expansion programs which have accounted for the remarkable growth of this institution.

On the national scene, Dr. Campbell served as a consultant to President Roosevelt's Advisory Committee on Education in 1937, and is a past president of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. He is also recognized as a national authority on curriculum, and has written a great deal on that subject.

In his plans for the future, Dr. Campbell intends to devote more time to the field of education in his writing, and by serving as a consultant in higher education.

the governor

Governor LeRoy Collins has the unique distinction of being the only governor of the State of Florida to be elected for two consecutive terms.

He first took office in 1954, when he was elected to fill out the remaining two years of the late Governor Dan McCarty's term, and again in 1957 when he was re-elected by an overwhelming first-primary victory.

Prior to this, Governor Collins can claim eighteen years of service to Flarida in the State Legislature. He was elected to the House of Representatives in 1935 and in 1940 was elected to the State Senate. He served in this capacity—except for a tour of duty in the Navy—until his election to the governorship in 1954.

LeRoy Collins was born in Tallahassee in 1910. In 1932 he married Mary Call Darby, the great-granddaughter of Richard Keith Call, one of the early territorial governors of Florida.

The Collinses have four children—Roy, Jr., a recent graduate of the Naval Academy, Jane, Mary Call, and Darby.

schools

The College of Arts and Sciences is dedicated to the type of educational program which emphasizes general and liberal training in the humanities, social sciences, and natural sciences. More and more this broad training is being demanded by industrial and governmental agencies.

The college administers the general education program required of all students in the University. Students register in the Colleges of Arts and Sciences who plan to major in any of the twenty academic departments and who are undecided as to a major course of study.

In addition to liberal arts and science majors, training is provided for such semi-professional programs as medical technology, guidance counseling, and government services. The college also offers pre-professional study for the fields of law, medicine, dentistry, engineering, and others.

Graduate programs in various departments have achieved national, and in some cases, international, recognition. Students may work toward the master's degree in any department of the college and toward the doctor of philosophy degree in ten of the departments.

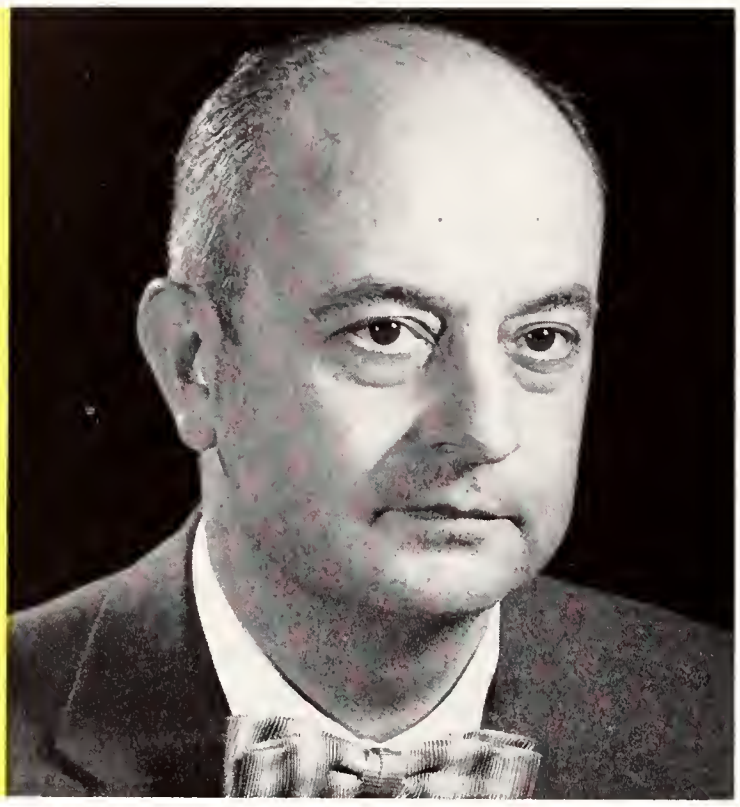
DR. MODE L. STONE
Dean, School of Education

Students in the School of Education pursue programs leading to teaching careers in nursery, kindergarten, elementary, secondary and junior college; in special education, guidance, and personnel work; as specialists in adult, art, driver, health, industrial arts, language arts, mathematics, modern and foreign language, physical, science, social studies, and vocational education; as school administrators and supervisors; as teacher educators; and as school finance, building, transportation, and research specialists.

The expanding program has enrolled 1760 resident university students, including both undergraduate and graduate students. The University School, enrolling 735 students, provides laboratory experience for the preparation of school personnel. One hundred thirty-nine faculty members are engaged in research, in teaching on-campus and extension classes, and in various consultative services to the people throughout the state of Florida.



DR. CHARLES A. ROVETTA

The present need for professional education for business administration is clearly defined. Modern business operations and management demand an increasingly high order of technical knowledge and administrative skill. It is now widely recognized that in business, as in law, engineering, or medicine, formal professional education is of vital importance in preparing for a career.

Education for business offers significant advantages. It conserves time by shortening the period of apprenticeship for higher executive responsibility. It provides a breadth of knowledge and perspective of complex business problems which are difficult to acquire through experience alone. More important, it supplements experience and greatly enhances its worth by supplying the valuable insight of theory and basic principles.

The management of the forthcoming decade must be more analytical than at present. In addition, a new responsibility must be incorporated and emphasized—that of creative thinking and planning.

In the highly competitive executive area of tomorrow, creative imagination may well become the factor determining career advancement. Education designed to advance methods of analysis, formation of value judgments, and creative imagination are incorporated within the curriculum of the School of Business.

music

DR. KARL O. KUERSTEINER
Dean, School of Music

The School of Music accommodates all levels of musical interest from the child in primary school to the candidate for a doctoral degree.

National recognition came to the school in 1930, when the National Association of Schools of Music admitted it to fully accredited membership.

A variety of curricula are offered: Bachelor's degrees with majors in Instrumental or Vocal music, Piano Teaching, Music Education, both instrumental and choral, and Music Therapy; Master's Degrees in Applied Music, Theory, Composition, History and Literature, Sacred Music, and Music Education; and Doctor's Degrees in Music Education, Piano Literature, Theory and Music Education.

Faculty members of outstanding achievement in their fields include Dr. Dohnanyi, who was a featured soloist at the Edinburg Festival in Scotland; Mr. Carlisle Floyd, whose opera "Susannah" had its New York premiere as he accepted a Guggenheim scholarship award; and Dr. Housewright and Dr. Rigsby, who spent the year in Japan and Austria, respectively, on Fullbright scholarships.

Some of the students' accomplishments must also be mentioned: the performance of an opera, "See the Wind", written by senior Ryan Edwards; the award to David Ward-Steinman of a scholarship to Aspen Music School to study composition under Darius Milhaud; and the Marie Morrisey Award given to pianist James Stafford by the National Federation of Music Clubs.

DR. MILTON W. CAROTHERS

graduate

The Graduate School administers graduate programs in all departments of the University except the School of Nursing. Doctoral programs are offered in Music, Education, Home Economics, Government, Humanities, Spanish, English, Biological Oceanography, Botany, Zoology, Chemistry, Physics, Meteorology, Sociology, Physiology, Psychology, Speech, Home and Family Living Education, Counseling, and Research.

All graduate students are eligible to apply for a limited number of Graduate Fellowships. Graduate Assistantships are available through the departments. Numerous research projects offer valuable educational experience and financial assistance to graduate students.

The Graduate School Office is now housed in the Graduate School Building, which was formerly the Library Building. A part of this building will be used for social and other activities of graduate students.

Special facilities for graduate students have been provided in the new Library School. Substantial additions in holdings have been made to support the rapidly expanding graduate program.

DR. LOUIS SHORES
Dean, Library Science

Librarianship has suddenly become a profession of destiny. Librarians are now one of the main components of the psychological army abroad and at home. FSU graduates are serving all over the world in the libraries and information centers of the U. S. Department of State and of the Armed Forces. Librarians are now full partners in industry research and in the scientific laboratories of the United States.

The decision of Congress to appropriate seven million dollars annually for the next five years to assist in the extension of free public library service to rural areas creates a tremendous demand for public librarians.

The introduction of bibliographers on the staffs of college and university libraries stimulates a new demand for Ph. D. librarians doubly trained in librarianship and in the sciences, social sciences, or humanities.

Finally, schools all over the country have moved to establish material centers in the elementary schools and high schools. For that reason librarianship has now become the number one shortage in the index of teacher demand in the United States.

FSU has the only nationally accredited professional Library School within a radius of 500 miles of the center of Florida. Its program leads to the basic master's degree which can be completed in one calendar year. Librarianship is fundamentally concerned with the dissemination of good ideas and the study of all the media of communcation.

Dean, School of Social Welfare

The School of Social Welfare offers programs of education and training on both the undergraduate and graduate levels for those preparing for positions in social work, social welfare, mental health, criminology and penology, and marriage and family counseling. Many students majoring in the School of Social Welfare qualify to teach social studies in the high school or to teach in the elementary grades. Other students combine a major in social welfare with the equivalent of a major in psychology, political science, journalism, sociology, public administration, or some other field.

Many pre-ministerial or pre-law students find social welfare an excellent undergraduate major as basic preparation for their profession.

The Division of Marriage and Family Living in the School of Social Welfare offers a number of courses ranging from "Preparation for Marriage" to "Marriage Counseling" that prepare people for choosing mates wisely and for intelligent parenthood.

In all of its educational programs, the School ties up theory with practice through field trips, demonstrations, workshops and internships. The student in social welfare courses comes to grips with reality which makes for vital and dynamic learning as well as effective teaching.

public administration

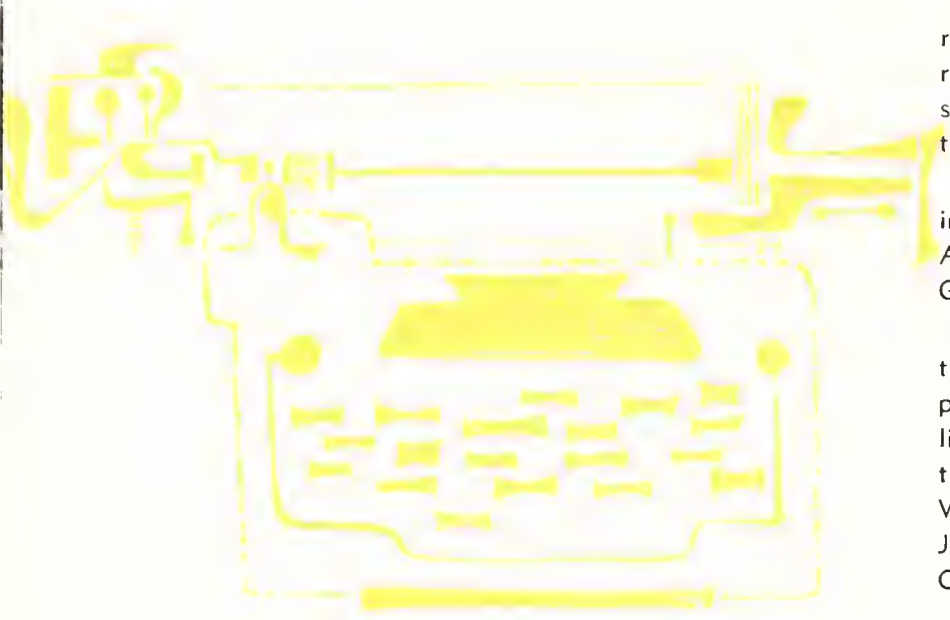
Dr. Wilson K. Doyle, Dean, School of Public Administration

The School of Public Administration is the only school of government in the South, and one of the few in the nation. Though less than ten years old, the School has already become recognized throughout the United States, drawing students from all sections of the country and from foreign countries.

It has pioneered a number of programs and courses which have been adopted in other universities. An example is the School's Federal Lecturer Program, which has brought to the campus as visiting lecturers top officials of the Federal Government. A similar program for state officials brings into the classroom each year members of the State Cabinet and other top State officials.

Members of the School's faculty are continually taking part in programs of research and advice for state and local governmental officials of Florida. These governmental problems and experiences are shared with students in the classroom. The internship program of the School is another way in which students are able to see first hand how government actually works.

Graduates of the School of Public Administration are found in increasing numbers of key positions in state, city, county, and Federal government. The State Budget Director, the Director of the Florida Securities Commission, the Assistant Personnel Director of the State Road Department, the Business Manager of the State Board of Control, and many others are graduates of the School.



Journalism graduates are at work in New York, Chicago, and other distant cities as well as in the South. Many of them report news for newspapers, radio, or television. Others teach, work on magazines, or are in advertising and public relations.

In 1956-57 the faculty of the School of Journalism reviewed and revised the curriculum. The undergraduate program in television and radio received special attention. The graduate program also was modified considerably. Additional equipment was added to the television-radio laboratories.

Four offices, a lecture room, and reporting and editing laboratories in the Reynolds Annex eased the space problem in the Journalism Building. An advertising layout laboratory was set up in the basement of the Women's Gymnasium.

Dean Laurence R. Campbell was re-elected executive secretary for the Florida Scholastic Press Association. Professor Earl McIntyre was appointed executive secretary of the Florida Association of Magazine Publishers. Professor Royal H. Ray was in charge of the distribution center of the Advertising Federation of America, Fourth District. Professor Daniel F. Wozniak expanded radio-television workshop activities. Professor Richard Joel served as national vice-president of Alpha Delta Sigma. Gamma Alpha Chi won honors in national competition.

patterns . . . material . . . menus . . . recipes

The School of Home Economics moved last September into its spacious new building and for the first time in several years all departments in the school are housed in one building.

Major programs at both the undergraduate and graduate levels may be found in the Departments of Clothing and Textiles, Food and Nutrition, Home and Family Life, Home Demonstration Education, Home Economics, Education and Institution Administration. Graduates from any of these areas will find many opportunities for personal or professional use of their training.

Home economists are needed in so many areas that the supply of graduates has never yet equalled the number of positions open.

For the college student wishing interesting work with a future, Home Economics should be one of the areas considered.

The student interested in the sciences may wish to major in Nutrition, Food Technology, Textiles or Household Administration; the student with artistic ability and may find that a major in Interior Design or Fashion Design is more to her liking; while the student interested in the social sciences may wish to specialize in Child Development, Family Relations or to combine a major in Nutrition with courses fitting her for public health careers. These are only a few of the opportunities available. The teacher of Home Economics, the home demonstration agent or the commercial home economist will find opportunities awaiting her within or without the State.

DR. MARGARET R. SANDELS
Dean, School of Home Economics

MISS VIVIAN M. DUXBURY
Dean, School of Nursing

The Florida State University School of Nursing offers two programs leading to the Bachelor of Science Degrees in Nursing or Nursing Education. Both programs are planned to include the full general educational requirements of the University, giving all nurses a solid foundation on which to base their professional educotion.

The first program prepares the student just out of high school to develop to her fullest potential in her abilities to make intelligent decisions and practice positive mental and physical health, as well as to learn about hospital care of patients. Public health agencies, a mental hospital, a nursery school, a large general hospital, a tuberculosis hospital, and rural hospitals all contribute to the basic education of these students.

The second program prepares nurses who are already registered to assume leadership positions in many areas in nursing. This is done through a core curriculum centered about principles in administration and teaching.

Both programs are concerned with the needs of nursing in this state and region, although graduates of the programs can already be found in the worldwide setting.

The mission of the Army ROTC Program is to develop educated, well-rounded leaders to officer our nation's armies during periods of national emergency. The program affords a student the opportunity to combine his military duties with academic preparation for his future career.

The Program of Instruction follows the General Military Science Curriculum and consists of two years each basic and advanced courses. Successful completion of the program leads to a reserve commission of second lieutenant in any branch of the Army, depending upon service requirements and individual student training, choice and background. Distinguished military students may receive appointments in the Regular Army.

Specifically, the program prepares young men for positions of command and develops in them essential knowledge and characteristics of an officer. It embraces subjects common to all branches of the Army, including psychology of leadership, personnel management, military administration, military history, map and aerial photograph reading, military operations and logistics, teaching methods, weapons and their employment and command and staff procedures.

Classroom instruction is supplemented by practical field work, engaged in by members of the advanced course during attendance at a six weeks summer camp at a regular Army installation.

The mission of the Air Force ROTC Unit is to provide an Air-Age Citizenship Course and to select and train cadets as future leaders in the United States Air Force.

The four-year ROTC program is divided into a basic and an advanced course, each of two years' duration. The basic course is designed to familiarize the student with the characteristics and capabilities of air power, weapons, and operations. Selected cadets are invited to take familiarization rides in USAF aircraft. Other activities provide cadets the opportuity to participate in the Cadet Band, Precision Drill Team, Rifle Team, and newspaper.

The Advanced Course provides qualified and selected cadets with generalized training in the fields of Leadership, Air Power Concepts, Administration and the military aspects of World Political Geography. Selection for the Advanced Course is based on such factors as leadership, academic advancement, and physical qualifications. Advanced cadets who qualify for pilot training are given 35 to 40 hours of flight instruction during their senior year.

The Student Government has three divisions of power patterned after our National Government. A Student Body Constitution outlines the duties, offices and authority of these branches.

The Executive Branch is composed of the President, the President's Cabinet, and three Vice-Presidents. The Legislative powers of Student Government rest in the Student Senate. This year, for the first time, Senators have been elected to represent both classes and living areas.

The highest court of the Judicial Branch of Student Government is the Honor Court. The University Court, better known as Judiciary, has jurisdiction over violations of regulations concerning the conduct of all students. Traffic Court handles all traffic and parking violations involving student cars, and makes recommendations regarding traffic policies on campus. Off Campus Court functions for sorority women as the Dorm House Councils for their residents.

Working together on many issues concerning the Student Body, the Student Senate and the President's Cabinet have major accomplishments in several areas. In January library hours were extended until 10 p.m. on Sundays. Two student policemen have been employed by the University to check on traffic violations. As a result of Senate investigations and recommendations both the University and Morrison's Food Service have increased their wages. Student lobbyists have been registered with the State Legislature for the purpose of furthering student interests. SHARES has been organized to raise money, through benefits and donations, for scholarships for Hungarian Students

florida flambeau

Striving to maintain the All-American rating awarded to the Florida Flambeau last year, the staff endeavors to give its readers creditable presentation of features, sports, editorials, student opinion and news, on a national as well as a local level. As well as news items and editorials the Flambeau features Herblock cartoons, a review of campus events, letters to the Editor and the ever popular Little Man on Campus by Dick Bibler. Additions to the Flambeau during the past year have included Peanuts by Schultz, the cartooon drawings by Don Heidel and a society page in the Friday edition.

The cooperation of all divisions of the staff results in orderly confusion on Monday and Thursday afternoons before the Flambeau goes to press. The two main divisions of the staff are the editorial and the business. The editorial staff headed by the Editor-In-Chief includes the feature and news editors as well as the columnists and editorial writers. The job of supplying the advertising and keeping the books belongs to the business staff, headed by the Business Manager.

Planning and work toword the 1957 Tally Ho started last spring with the selection of the Editor and Business Manager. Learning from the mistokes at previous years the staff has revised and improved upon existing policies. The contracting of a professional yearbook photographer for the class section, composite rother than group pictures in the Greek section, and an index of people and organizotions pictured in the Tally Ho have been among the improvements the staff feels have helped make this Tolly Ho an impravement aver past editions and a guide for the future.

We hove endeovored to relate in words and pictures a representative story of the past year at Florida State. Amid the confusion of clacking typewriters, sorting pictures, phone calls and many questions this Tally Ho has emerged. Ta those who have contributed time and service we give our thanks.

board of student publications

The purpose of the Board of Student Publications is to help maintain a high standard of journalism in student publications. Its duties include the appointing of the editor and business manager of each of the publications, approving their budgets and financial statements, and considering requests concerning their policies.

The publication of a literary magazine and a revision of the Pow Wow have been topics considered by this group during the past year.

Five students elected in the spring serve on this Board along with three faculty members appointed by the President. A student elected by the Board serves as Chairman. Editors and Business Managers of all student publications serve on the Board as non-voting members along with Dr. Reid Montgomery, Advisor for Student Publications.

University television programs are produced by the Office of Communications and Radio. Typical of this activity is the telecourse in basic conversational Spanish offered through WCTV, channel 6, Tallahassee, and WMBR-TV, channel 4, Jacksonville. Facilities of the Office of Communications and Radio are utilized by instructional departments in radio and television who supply student talent for University radio and TV programs and films. The Office of Communications and Radio is headed by Roy Flynn, Director of Radio and Television.

Dr. Margaret Campbell of the Modern Languages faculty prepares for her series "Let's Learn Spanish," the first University telecourse offered through commercial television stations.

WFSU-FM, the University radio station, extends hi-fi University-level listening to an audience within a fifteen mile radius of the Music Building where beautiful studios and an excellent outlay of equipment are located. The station broadcasts a total of sixty-five hours per week, and also serves as the production center for programs aired through commercial stations over the country via the Tape Network. WFSU-FM is only one area of activity supervised by the Office of Communications and Radio. Station facilities are also used in preparation of sound tracks for University films produced by the department and broadcast through commercial TV stations of the state.

Florida State University music reaches listeners from the Virgin Islands to Oregon via the Tape Network. Bill Ragsdale, chief engineer for the Office of Communications and Radio, checks in tapes with Patti Wisener, student producer of "Repeat Performance."

With heavy emphasis on hi-fi good music, Jean Cooper, music librarian, fills a key post on WFSU-FM operations. She discusses each new song-play selection with Ray Cheydleur, assistant-director of Radio-TV.

Closed doors and secrecy veil the nomination and election of the members of FSU's Hall of Fame. Each year, a committee made up of members of the Junior class and of the faculty select the Seniors who have distinguished themselves among such fields as politics, organizations, publications, scholarship, athletics, drama and the speech arts, music and University functions.

Nominations for this honor — one of the highest accorded to students on this campus — are made by the organizations within these categories. The ten students who are finally selected are those who have made outstanding contributions to FSU during their under-graduate careers.

The Panhellenic Council is composed of representatives from the sixteen sororities on campus and functions as a governing body for all sorority activities. The goal of the council is to foster cooperation among sororities in working toward the maintenance of college ideals and standards.

The primary social function of the council is the annual Panhellenic Weekend, topped off by the Christmas Dance.

Officers for the year were president, Marion Benson, Kappa Alpha Theta; secretary, Ann Kelly, Zeta Tau Alpha; treasurer, Charlotte Lucy, Delta Zeta.

Panhel electricians prepare for Xmas dance.

Inter-Fraternity Council is composed of representatives of the fifteen national fraternities on the Florida State campus. Together they act as a governing body among the fraternities.

In the Spring, IFC has its annual weekedn which includes a banquet, group meetings for the officers, and sports events in which all fraternities compete. Climaxing the weekend activities is the formal dance at which the new IFC queen and court are named.

Officers for the year were: president, John Ware, Lambda Chi Alpha; vice president, Ray Hemann, Phi Kappa Tau; secretary, Paul Ort, Phi Delta Theta; treasurer, Jim Nettles, Pi Kappa Phi.

President, Dottie Sue Thompson.

The Alpha Chi's moved into their big new house on Park Avenue. The house was formally christened in October, at a dedication ceremony presided over by the national president.

The AXO's help cerebral palsy victims as part of their national altruistic project In addition to financial help, the girls also make and distribute toys for stricken children.

Social highlight of the year is the Carnation Ball, a part of the annual Weekend. Traditional uniform for the dance is white formal and red carnation. The chapter also gave a Christmas party for the Tallahassee alums.

During their first Homecoming with a house to decorate, the girls used a total of 86,000 paper napkins on the house and float decorations. Half of these were used on the house alone.

Calendar of special events: the pledges' goat-watching episode . . . the dressed-up house meeting . . . the informal christening of the house—the first night the girls moved in, someone planted a sprinkler hose on the front porch.

You better believe it: "you wonder where the yellow went" . . . the Alpha Chi pledges really do like oysters.

The girls from the big house with the columns and the fire escape get around—two are in Tarpon, three in Circus, and four in Village Vamps. An ADPi was also runnerup in the Miss Gymkana contest.

Ain't it a shame: the ADPi's are haunted by the man in the green Hudson . . . some most happy fella used the big curved driveway for a drag strip—drove his Jag right up to the front steps.

Believe it or don't dept.: seven pledges came back from Christmas vacation with engagement rings . . . Mary and Betty Lou, the pj-wearing cookie-raiders, got themselves caught—in the pantry . . . the Black Bullet is still running—and how . . . "if it's Sexton's, it's got to be good."

It has been known to happen: midnight rendezvous on the fire escape . . . songs on the radio dedicated to the ADPi's from the Green Hornet . . . bridge for twenty-four hours a day . . . an ADPi float in the Inaugural Parade.

Two stories: one night the Sigma Nu Dog came over for dinner. He was well-behaved, well-received, and well-fed. Moral: what's wrong with a dog's life?

Janie was always late after a date. One night Janie was so late that a friend threw a blanket out the window and said "Camp out!" Morals: Janie didn't.

President, Lou Griffin.

The Alpha Gams walked away with the scholarship trophy for the fifth straight semester with a booming 2.9 average—once more and it's a permanent fixture. With the Phi Delts, they sponsored FSU's Grand Prix—the Soapbox Derby, good for many laughs and many dollars for Campus Chest. The house with the missing Delta took second place in Homecoming house decorations.

In June, FSU's Gamma Beta chapter was hostess for a three-day province convention—85 Alpha Gams from the southeastern states were shown the welcome mat. Three Alpha Gams were picked for Who's Who . . . several had leading parts in campus dramatic productions . . . the chapter boasts the only undergraduate Phi Beta Kappa member on campus—has Evelyn heard about "The $64,000 Question," youall?

Statistics: Alpha Gams claim the largest chapter on campus—some 75 strong . . . also Mother Rose Gilliland, who has served as housemother for 28 years—any challengers?

Flash: the "Delta" above the door, missing lo these two years, has been replaced—the girls tired of playing Joe Friday and ordered a new one.

Can't-you-just-see-it dept.: 75 Alpha Gams chanting "twice as many filter traps" on a TV commercial—seems that two girls at the house are Viceroy distributors, and you can't find another brand of weed on the place . . . attention, Viceroy company.

The AOPi's are plagued by those things called classes, but they manage not to let such trivial matters interfere with their college education In spite of study hall, they find time for projects and pranks and parties at the Reservation.

The girls are working overtime at rush this year—fraternity rush, that is—doing the hostess chores for three of their neighbors. A grateful group even sent a dozen roses to one blond helper, name of Pat. The presidents of Gymnastica and the Newman Club are AOPi's . . . and so is the reigning queen of Delta Tau Delta.

alpha xi delta

President, Nancy Cubbon.

The Alpha Xi's, rising from twelfth to second place, received the award for most improvement in sorority scholastic competition. In other campus activities, the chapter placed third in both the Sigma Chi Derby and the Soap-box Derby.

The chapter won top national honors in a subscription-selling contest which is staged for the benefit of an Alpha Xi charity.

Alpha Xi has two members in Mortar Board, six in Garnet Key, and two girls in Mortified, including the right honorable Czar. Arielou Johnson was a finalist in the Miss Football contest—and Marjorie Tindell was chosen as Best Actress of the Year at FSU for her parts in speech department productions.

Big moment of the social season is the Rose Formal, a part of the yearly Weekend in February.

Innovation: the Alpha Xi's don't throw people in the shower anymore—they give 'em the dirty bathtub treatment.

Congratulations: to Matt the master chef for his picture of Ava Gardner . . . to the lovely members of the Beta Beta chapter of Omicron Mu.

President, Martha Grizzard.

Dreams came true for the Chi Omegas this year—thanks to a monumental job by alumni, actives and architect. After too many years of working and waiting, they moved into their new house on Jefferson Street. The interior is done in muted tones of the sorority colors, cardinal and straw, and furnished in modern functional style.

The Chi O's stimulate sorority scholarship with an annual award for the highest academic average among the Greeks. They seem a good bid to win their own trophy this year, with a fine start by their pledge class—almost half the pledges made the magic three-point mark.

Alumni were surprised this year with a unique Weekend. The actives moved out of the new house and alums were invited to spend the weekend, in appreciation for the part they played in its building.

One balmy night, the girls lined the second floor balcony for a fraternity serenade—and were promptly met by a stream of very wet water issuing from a hose wielded by the boys.

Usually reigned over by the wise old owl, Chi O land was once invaded by a bird of another color. Girls were gathered in the rec room, talking, studying, talking, playing bridge, talking—the front door opened, the veep went to investigate. Lo and behold, the Chi O house had been goosed! Fraternity friends had planted a gigantic goose plunk in the middle of the entrance hall. The goose had evidently not been housebroken—and the pledges were treated with a cleanup party.

delta delta delta

President, Margaret Dellinger.

Chapter projects included an Easter party for children of alumni, a Christmas party for Negro children, and the awarding of a yearly scholarship to an FSU student.

A formal dinner, with a program by the alums, commemorated the founding of Delta Delta Delta in 1888.

Two Tri Delts, Carolyn Close and Jane Soper, were chosen for Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

Tri Delt Barbara Bishop was elected Miss Football. Barbara's picture will be used on brochures and other material publicizing the football team. Carol Ann Brown was chosen as Campus Chest Queen and SAE Sweetheart.

It must be rough dept.: Stu Gregory, SAE prez, was elected the Tri Delt Man of the Year.

Booster: the Tri Delts' maid has a little girl named Delta Ann. Every Christmas, this small namesake is dressed in silver, gold, and blue, the sorority colors.

Chapter traditions: Brussels sprouts . . . Nurse Seamen, the educator . . . the swinging senior party in the chapter room.

We could have done without: the midnight complainer . . . the midnight phone calls . . . the two Sigma Chi's planning a party on the roof . . . the exhibitionist.

delta gamma

President, Marion Ard.

The big news for the Delta Gams is the new house. Plans are just about finished, and they hope to be able to move in around next September.

The DG's should add "two no trump" to their chapter insignia—they went home with the Bridge Tournament trophy this year. They also brought the most dads to campus on Dad's Day, and added that trophy to their collection. In the Soapbox Derby, a Delta Gam was second to get the checkered flag.

For Campus Chest, the DG's joined the Pikes in sponsoring the Joe College-Betty Coed contest. Students who are blind or partially blind are helped by the Delta Gammas' sight conservation project. The girls read aloud to these students, helping them with courses and with recreational reading.

For people who can't brush after every meal: ye olde pledges filched all the actives' toothbrushes, packaged them neatly in a shoebox, and hid them in a boy's car.

Where were you when the lights didn't come on?: those same li'l ole pledges snatched all the bulbs in the meeting room. Came chapter meeting, and all the actives were left in the dark.

Most unforgettable character: Diane the naturalist, whose treasured objets d'art include a squirrel hide, two cat hides, and one stuffed hawk.

delta zeta

President, Martha Sue Mizell

The Delta Zetas are happily finishing out the first year in their new house. They moved in last April, and have been well pleased with the huge Colonial style mansion.

One DZ was placed in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. The chapter also boasts several members in campus honoraries, and supplies talent for Circus. The girls of the Roman lamp are agile in the vocal field, too—they've won the Campus Sing trophy for the last three years.

Something for the boys . . . beginning this year, the Delta Zetas are sponsoring an annual tea for all the Homecoming Queen candidates. This pageant takes place at the house, and is given, to quote the DZ's, "so that the men on campus can meet the queen candidates and decide who they will vote for." Such pretty politicians you never saw.

And then there was the case of the stolen teapot. The "teapot," which the DZ's insist is really a Roman lamp, was an illuminated sign and was fastened above the front door to greet visitors. One dark night the lamp disappeared. The teapot finally turned up—express collect. Seems it had been lifted by male creatures from a quaint hamlet name of Gainesville. Since, friendly exchanges have been carried on—all collect.

President, Mary Frances Horn.

The sleek speedster, powerful pistons palpitating and a gorgeous Gamma at the wheel, pulled into the pit after a record run of 412.2 miles per hour. It really didn't, but that's the way the Gamma Phi's felt after their little mill took first position in the Soapbox Derby. The chapter also ran, shrieked, and scrambled their way to a second place prize in the Sigma Chi Derby.

Gamma Phi Beta has members in student government, dorm government, Sigma Alpha Iota, Tau Beta Sigma, and Cotillion. A dozen Gamma Phi's in the circus include star performer Faye Moses.

Heard around the house: the cry of "Nursey!" early in the ayem . . . "man your stations!"—the rallying cry of the balcony brigade . . . said June, when her chronically conking car conked—"Hurry—my car's sick and my battery's dying!"

Occasions to forget: the modern dance sessions on Friday night . . . Dot and Carol locked in the attic . . . the time Nancy Beth's bed collapsed . . . Jane's charm and grace lessons—she wants to learn how to curtsey to the queen . . . the scavenger hunt and the white rat . . .tacky parade through the Phi Tau house . . . the time the door almost caught on fire—who needs a new house that bad?

These we salute: the nosy cat with the passkey . . . Nancy and Nancy Beth, who hold long conversations—both sound asleep . . . the select few gentlemen who are always around for Sunday dinner . . . Pat, the sagging Santa Claus . . . Betty Sue's goldfish—they reproduced.

kappa alpha theta

President, Florence Ashby.

In the fall, the Thetas celebrated the crowning of Layte Bowden as Homecoming Queen Thetas have also been chosen as SAE and Phi Delt sweethearts, Gymkana princesses, and Homecoming Princess.

Three girls have been elected to Mortar Board—others are in Garnet Key, Circus, Cotillion, Tarpon, and Village Vamps. Other individual honors include Panhellenic president, dorm presidents, Judiciary chairman, and VV president.

Suzanne Lally spent the fall semester at Auburn, colonizing a Theta chapter there. Then FSU's Beta Nu chapter traveled to Auburn to visit the new chapter and to witness the installation ceremonies.

One of the Thetas' projects was the making of stuffed animals for their national philanthropic project. Pledges sponsored a spaghetti supper complete with atmosphere, and bought a TV set with the proceeds.

It happened here: the squawking Thetas, who have a passionate love of chicken, earned themselves a steak supper by placing second in Campus Sing . . . the wise pledges who cut study hall one night found themselves guests at a 6 a.m. study party . . . the same pledges also stole letters and various unmentionable items from the actives and auctioned them off at outrageous prices . . . any Thetas seen wandering around campus lately with towel in hand were not cracking up—the boiler exploded and the Theta house was without hot water for several days Beastly inconvenient, I promise you.

The KD's acquired a new house at the beginning of the year. State Day for the KD's, oldest sorority in the state with a chapter at FSU, was hostessed by the KA chapter and featured a formal dedication of the new house.

Three KD's were tapped for Garnet Key . . . the chapter took second place in the SK Variety Show . . . placed a Princess in the Homecoming Court and runnerup for SX Derby Queen . . . Mortar Board chose a Kappa Delta for its prexy.

Plans for the new house didn't include a patio, so the girls raised the cash and had one built—who did the work? An alum's husband . . . naturally.

On the lighter side: for a time the KD lawn sported a green-and-white striped tree proclaiming "Haircuts—35c"—courtesy of the Sigma Nu's.

How-can-we-forget dept.: the wild ride of Caroline, ramming her Soap-box Special into a wall—wearing her glasses, yet . . . the basement full of water at one o'clock on Monday morning . . . rendezvous—35 KD's taking in Gasparilla together at Tampa . . . the annual spaghetti supper—candlelight and good food—and well-earned pride in the new house . . . domestic doings around the house, with everybody and her sister taking up sewing—no baby things, they insisted.

The grin-and-bear-it's of Jefferson Street made theater history, winning the Sigma Kappa Variety Show trophy with a satire on Hamlet that was evidently caviar to the judges—though some say poor Will must still be turning over in his grave. The same week, Phi Mu added the APO Ugly Woman trophy to the mantel. Ugly Woman Nancy, ironically enough, has been entered in many bona fide beauty contests.

For community service, Phi Mu maintains a toy cart at Tallahassee Memorial Hospital, and distributes food baskets at Thanksgiving and Easter. The Alpha Epsilon chapter sent twelve girls to the national convention, a larger delegation than any other state.

Around the house: the procession of signs on the lawn, including "We Give S&H Green Stamps" . . . the tap dance lessons during study hall . . . the case of the stolen green jello . . "The Ouija board never lies" . . . Black Night . . . autographs for the Delts . . . bean salad . . . the wrestling match in the living room . . . little Edie has lost her Tuesdays and doesn't know where to find them . . . the Snake Club . . . the nightly floor show in rooms 2 and 6 . . . performances start after eleven . .."let's go to class—o!"

President, Ruth Ann Whittle.

Well-rounded is the word for the Pi Phi's this year—these busy little Betas of Florida were all over. Village Vamps and the Student Religious Association have Pi Phi's for presidents . . . West Hall, Sigma Chi and the ATO's all chose Pi Phi girls for their sweethearts . . . and girls of the golden arrow occupy a Soph Hop throne, three Senate seats, and an Honor Court bench.

Not satisfied with beauty and brains, the Pi Phi's turned athletic and added the volleyball and bowling championships to their record . . . their grave and grisly float took second prize in the Homecoming parade, and the house won top honors.

Pi Phi projects included sponsorship of the campus Bridge Tournament and Christmas and Easter parties for underprivileged children.

President, Sara Atkinson.

The SK Variety Show topped all previous productions, turning out campus talent en masse and collecting $325 for Campus Chest.

A week of the fall semester was devoted to the old folks' homes in Tallahassee, and a caroling party cheered the patients and staff of the tuberculosis home at Christmas-time. Another project was the buying of Christmas gifts for Indian children.

Sigma Kappa awards a "Best Host" trophy each year—the fraternity is selected by a vote of all sororities on campus.

On the party line: the pledges gave a Christmas party for the actives and alums, complete with a pledge-trimmed tree and pledge-sung goat songs.

Individual accomplishments were notable all year—sisters were chosen for Phi Kap Sweetheart, the lead role in "Carmen," and treasurer and secretary of the senior class. Sigma Kappa also numbers among her members the presidents of seven campus organizations.

Things to come: the sound of falling bricks will be music to Sigma Kappa ears. They plan to tear down the brick house next door to the chapter house to make room for an addition. The "addition," scheduled to be built in the spring, will be larger than the original SK house.

President, Sora Ann Coulter.

The Zetas built the most beautiful float at Homecoming, won the Sigma Chi Derby, and took second place in the Variety Show and the Little 500. In addition, they have been picked as Outstanding Sorority for two years by the Delta Tau Deltas, who make the annual award.

ZTA's are active in Garnet Key, Circus, Tarpon, Village Vamps, Gamma Alpha Chi, Tau Beta Sigma, Sigma Alpha Iota, and several other organizations.

In individual competition, Linda Jones was elected Miss Gymkana and a Homecoming Princess—Ruth Shuman is the Sigma Chi Derby Queen—and Mary Margaret Williams is the current Sweetheart of the Kappa Sigs.

During the summer the Zetas added a few new touches around the house. There's the large three-cornered room with the Hawaiian name, lanai, for parties and the like—a patio and an extension to the rec room—and a new piano and tv set.

"Give 'em Help!" scream the ATO's, and that's just what they do. They've transformed the annual Hell Week into Help Week. Instead of caressing the pledges' bottoms with paddles, the chapter selects a project in or near Tallahassee and gives out with manpower. Help Week projects have included a party for underprivileged children in Tallahassee and the painting of a church in a nearby community.

To the intense delight of hundreds of jazz addicts, the ATO's brought Louis Armstrong and his band to the campus. The fabulous Satch and his vintage Dixieland set feet to tapping, and helped to swell the coffers of Campus Chest. And under ATO's sponsorship, Layte Bowden was crowned Homecoming Queen.

Gossip-type column: the Snow King was all excited when his picture appeared in the Flambeau alongside all those borrowed trophies . . . the ATO's have their own version of The Elvis since Ronnie hit campus . . . the Jive King has been spotted showing off his tattoos at the coast.

The Delts were blood donors again—this time for a little Tallahassee girl stricken with leukemia. They also sponsored parties for children in the Tallahassee area, once with the Alpha Xi's and once with the AOPi's.

The Zetas were the happy winner of the Sorority of the Year award, given to the most outstanding sorority on campus. The Delt men presented Zeta representatives with their trophy at the Panhel Dance.

Delt candidate Linda Jones is the reigning IFC queen, and was also a princess in the Homecoming Court Big social to-do of the year is the Rainbow Ball in April. Sue Rogers, AOPi, was last year's queen.

President, Bob Porter

'Twas a beautiful winter's evening—frost on the pumpkin and all that—and all was well at the DDD house. All was well—until one observant Tri Delt discovered that the front door was missing. The panic button was pushed, and shrieking coeds were horrified to see the door vanishing down Park Avenue atop a blue convertible, from which blared shouts of "KA, one time!"

Several days later, after conferences of war, the intrepid ladies invaded the KA sanctuary, seeking sweet revenge and a front door. They were met with typical Southern courtesy, hospitably ushered to the basement, and there became the reluctant recipients of the most extensive hair-cutting in FSU history.

The troops of Fort Kappa Alpha did not spend all their time waging such pleasant war. KA's were prominent in other campus activities—athletics, politics, cheerleading, circus, card games—and a few die-hards were seen attending classes.

The Old South Weekend in April held the campus spotlight during its tenure, and the Rebel Toll Gate hit crackers and carpetbaggers alike for the benefit of Campus Chest.

As the end of the semester rolls around, the gentlemen (Southern, suh) in the mansion on the hill sit back optimistically on the veranda, rising occasionally to refresh their mint juleps or to thunder hopefully, "The South will rise again!"

The chapter has been busy at home, buying new furniture for the downstairs area and building a barbecue pit. The brothers have also been doing their own landscaping around the house.

The Kappa Sig blood bank, kept well stocked by contributions from the brothers, came in handy when an epidemic of operations hit the house.

On the party scene, the Kappa Sigs staged the Black and White Ball, a children's Christmas party, and a Founder's Day Banquet. Social standout was the oriental party—the brothers sat on the floor, eyed the authentic Japanese mural, and enjoyed green tea and seaweed.

The pledge-active football game was a success, even if most of it was played under water.

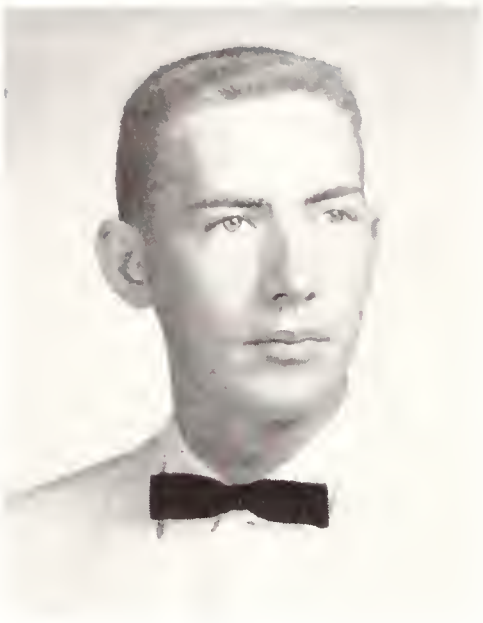
phi delta theta



President, Paul Ort.

The Phi Delta Theta roll this year includes the names of two class presidents, a vice-president, members of Alpha Council and Gold Key, and representatives to Student Senate and Judiciary. The Fightin' Phi's also boast players on every varsity team at FSU.

With the Alpha Gams, they sponsored the popular Soapbox Derby. Their only gripe is the loss of pledges used as bumpers to stop the speeding cars. But what's Phikeia here and there?—it's all for Campus Chest.

The boys of the blue and white socialize each year at the Bowery Ball. Another annual event is Phi Delt Weekend—Jeani Kitchens is the current queen.

It happened around the house: after seven long years, the wall around the patio is finished . . . the pungent aroma of Stillman's Gym has migrated to third floor—dead lifts, anyone? . . . Phi Delts claim the only Mohawk businessman in the country . . . G. Hill says a rolling stone gathers no moss . . . the house lost money on the mechanical cow—the cow put out, but it cost too much . . . Have you heard: Williams is expected to be out of bed for graduation, provided it isn't earlier than twelve o'clock . . . next year's Bowery Ball Queen has already been selected . . . for lost and found, check the missing persons bureau . . . butterflies—swans—roaches next, Hank? . . . pay attention to the Scripture, brother . . . we were the hairy-chested men.

phi kappa tau

President, Ray Hemann

The Phi Tau's are well in the swing of campus things, with members in varsity sports, student government, honoraries, Cavaliers, and student publications.

Social highlights included a big redecorating spree around Homecoming time, a Christmas party (with Santa Claus!), and a gala weekend topped off by the annual Carnation Ball.

In spite of all the parties, the Phi Tau's kept up their academic standing, placing second in frat scholarship first semester.

The fall rush program was a big success, the Phi Tau's say—they signed the biggest pledge class ever.

They say it really happened: skindiving exhibition in Westcott pool . . . a really "hot" party at Wakulla—whoever thought beer would burn? . . . the DZ's won the Campus Sing trophy, but they didn't keep it for long . . . Padre's hearse lost its wheels . . . if you date a Gamma Phi, take along an oil can for that squeaky swing . . . flash—the SAE's have initiated three more Phi Tau's into the Cueball Club . . . there are some really truly war heroes around the house—if you believe the stories they tell . . . typical Saturday night party—garbage can through convertible roof.

pi kappa phi

President, Jim Nettles.

The year started sadly for the Pi Kaps—Sarah Seminole disappeared from her customary place in the hallway. But in other realms, Dame Fortune was more benign. Perry's work paid off, and the chapter took first place in Campus Sing . . . the pledges did the impossible at Thomasville and now Ike's autograph graces the Pi Kap mantle.

Pi Kaps in campus activities include members of ODK, Alpha Council, Gold Key, Judiciary, and varsity teams; and the presidents of Phi Alpha Theta, Los Picaros, and the IFC.

John (The Pool Playboy) Brown's brothers claim the most-dunked record for Westcott pool—nine pinless brothers took the icy plunge on two consecutive days.

A waiter replete with kimono—and generous servings of fish eyes and rice—lent flavor to the Japanese party. The Monte Carlo party honored the gods of chance, with fortunes riding on the click of the wheel or the turn of a card. The Christmas party brought a suspicious dampness to the eyes of grown men . . . with "those wonderful courageous kids" . . . and especially little Starlit.

Doxie was Pi Kap Rose at the Ball . . . highlights of the weekend were Dick B.'s incomparable chow and the dramatic entrance of Rebel Brown.

Jottings: Mimi the pup, who outdid Liberace . . . Werner's shaven head . . . cable break at the midnight Soapbox run . . . love those road trips . . . the swimming races at Blue Sink . . . the football team—spirit aplenty.

The SAE's, strong contenders for the intramural championship this year, have won the bowling and the volleyball events two years in succession. This year they also took the tennis doubles and basketball competition.

Coming up are the ten-mile marathon with Kappa Alpha and the Beer Bowl game with the Phi Delts. SAE's won both last year.

The chapter serenaded an alum, Governor LeRoy Collins, after his inauguration in January. On tap for the spring are a reception for all alums in the Legislature, and a reception honoring FSU President Doak S. Campbell.

Set for April is the Hawaiian party, rumored to be the year's biggest blast. Plans and refreshments are fomenting and fermenting.

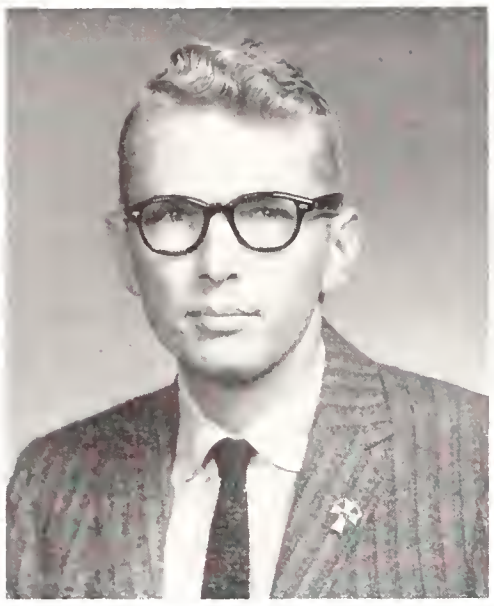
sigma chi



President, Bobby Temple.

The Sigma Chi's came through on grades again, topping all other Greek groups in academic competition and winning the IFC scholarship trophy for the sixth consecutive year.

The brothers found time to socialize, celebrating Founder's Day, Sigma Chi Weekend, and Parents' Weekend.

The Sigma Chi Derby brought out some of the most spirited competition ever, with the lady Greeks battling for the first place trophy and a piece of a Sig derby. Amidst a scramble of shaving cream, eggs, flour and chicken feathers, the Zetas emerged victorious.

In sports, the Sigs are represented on the basketball, track, swimming, golf, baseball and gymnastic teams.

In student activities, brothers are active in Senate, student publications, Alpha Council, ODK, and Gold Key. Dave Bachman, student body president, is a Sigma Chi.

Easy come, easy go: after the Sigs had put a hard week's work into their Homecoming float, a careless driver rammed his car into it just as the parade was starting. And that ain't all—after the parade was over, some firebug struck a match and the whole float went up in flames.

Exploits: Kissing Jim's record number of shafts at the Theta house . . . the smooth job of rushing that Belly Bigchest and the Blountstown Butterball did on a passing prof . . . the refusal of Shorty to date a girl because she wasn't five feet tall . . . Alfie's graceful waltz on the roof . . . Mouse's portrayal of Nature Boy in the front yard.

The Sig Ep's kicked off the second semester by repainting the fraternity house. Now they're working on a boat, to be used for picnics and parties.

Big party for the fall semester was the pledge dance, traditionally called the Queen of Diamonds Dance. Barbara Krogland was the reigning monarch.

As a result of FSU's victory over Mississippi Southern, the Sig Ep's are the proud owners of a sheepskin presented to them by their brother chapter at Southern.

Spring sprang and the SPE's celebrated their annual Weekend. A shipwreck party on Friday night was followed by the Queen of Hearts formal on Saturday, with Sara Jo Mitchell as queen. A cool conversation piece was the large ice carving of the Trojan horse, made by the father of one of the brothers.

True love: seems like George had a date, and was stood up—came home singing the blues and joked that he was going to shoot himself. The brothers took him at his word and strung George up in effigy. After three days with a hung-up dummy in his room, George was about ready to take the same step.

"Ship ahoy!" yelled Parkhurst, and the Sigma Nu's launched full speed ahead into the new year. Along with their shipwreck party, the Sigs duded up for a western-type blast, and turned suave for the big cabaret party. The social agenda was climaxed by the White Star Weekend, an annual affair.

Even all these parties didn't leave Sigma Nu shortwinded—they came off the intramural football field trophy in hand, and were runners-up for the basketball championship.

And then there was work. Sigs went all out on their Help Week, and supported Campus Chest by selling drinks (soft) at the CC dance.

Big moment of the year was the christening of the new red brick house on Call Street as the home of the Sigma Nu's. The latest battle cry is "home sweet home."

Featuring a breadth of time and culture range, the University Museum and Art Gallery brings exhibits of outstanding merit in the fields of anthropology and art to FSU.

Modern art—a study in line and contrast.

Carvings and pottery highlight the exhibition of American Indian art.

Exhibitions of the Museum this year have included a representation of ten thousand years of ceramic development, contemporary art of the American Indians, a display on atomic energy, and a loan exhibit of masterpieces from the Ringling Museum

One man shows have included the works of FSU art students, designer Irwin Rubin, Joseph Almyda, Robert Schuler, Yvonne Streetman, and members of the faculty of the Department of Art.

The Theatre Dance Group's annual production highlights student choreography and composition in "An Evening of Dance."

Under the direction of Nellie Bond-Dickenson, Nancy Smith, and Valda Mock, the group presented interpretations of contemporary dance which included "Mambo"; "Patterns," based on a poem by Amy Lowell; and "Small Town, South," the music for which was written by student David Ward-Steinman. Musical directors for the production were Carlisle Floyd and Lester Bruch.

Membership in the Theatre Dance Group is open to both men and women, who are selected on their performances in tryout sessions.

Curtain going up! Igor Gorin prepares to sing.

Good grief, Charlie Brown! A full house!

The University Artists Series's first offering this year was baritone Igor Gorin. He presented a varied program in which the songs ranged from the classic to humorous folk songs and spirituals.

The first winter presentation, "The Best of Steirbeck," was composed of dramatized excerpts from that author's works, including Of Mice and Men, Cannery Row, and Grapes of Wrath. Constance Bennett, Robert Strauss, Tod Andrews and Frank McHugh comprised the cast.

roger wagner chorale

The Roger Wagner Chorale—an organization including thirty voices and two pianos—made up the third Artist Series presentation of the year. The program included "Ave Maria," "The Echo Song," and a medley from Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess."

Spring brought the Canadian Ballet, a remarkably young group of dancers. Lead roles were danced by Rod Adams, Lois Smith, and Celia Franca.

The grand old man of jazz, Louis Armstrong, came to town under the sponsorship of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity as a project for Campus Chest. Satchmo entranced Seminole Dixieland fans with his golden horn and gravelly voice, and jazz came to FSU to stay.

The Student Artist Series, a program provided through the planning of Student Senate, brought the Billy May Band to campus this year. Seminole lovers of the "new sound" in bands filled the Wescott Auditorium for two concerts given by the May aggregation.

By George! We've been playing it wrong all this time.

A whirldwind tour of "Fantasy Land" conducted by Hans Christian Andersen provided the theme for Tarpon's annual aquashow. Thirty-six members took part in planning and presenting favorite children's stories in water ballet form. Among the twice-told tales were "Cinderella," the "Sleeping Beauty," "Peter Pan," the "Wizard of Oz," and the "Arabian Nights."

Each number was written and supervised by a student member of Tarpon, while Miss Glynise Smith, sponsor of Tarpon, coordinated the finale.

speech production

Everyone looks doubtful in this scene from "Skin of Our Teeth."

skin of our teeth

Starting the year in a jolly mood, the Speech Department presented Thornton Wilder's 'The Skin of Our Teeth," a comedy concerning the fabled "average man" and his family, their misadventures and mishaps, and their perennially optimistic outlook on the future.

Leading the cast directed by Lynn Orr were Suzanne Saunders, as the maid; Marjorie Tindall as Mrs. Antrobus; Stanley DeHart, Mr. Antrobus; and Ruth Havard and Eli Ask as their children.

Margie Tindell and Stan DeHart seem to have reached an understanding.

sabrina fair

"Sabrina Fair," Samuel Taylor's comedy about the daughter of a well-read chauffeur with a mind for business, featured Jack Rockett and Phil Johnson as the scions of the wealthy Larrabee family, Betty Caldwell as Sabrina, the chauffeur's daughter, and the direction of Paul Davee.

The play deals with the romantic adventures of Sabrina, newly arrived from several years abroad, who in turn jilts a titled French suitor, decides she does not love the younger son of her father's employer, and—after the expenditure of some effort—awakens the Larrabee's elder son to the fact that Sabrina is the girl for him.

Jack Rockett, Eli Ask, Betty Caldwell, and Phil Johnson in "Sabrina Fair."

Cast in children's production "Aladdin and His Wonderful Lamp."

aladdin and his wonderful lamp

In connection with the Service League of Tallahassee, the Department of Speech presented as its children's play, James Norris' dramatization of "Aladdin and the Wonderful Lamp."

Under the direction of Lynn Orr, Jack Terwilliger as Aladdin and Eli Ask as the magician conjured up some mystical visions of genie-haunted lamps and rings for their youthful, and somewhat wide-eyed, audience. Adding to the hocus-pocus effect were scenery and lighting by Charles Reimer and costumes and makeup by Pat Clift.

Hometown boy makes good.

the bigger they come

"The Bigger They Come" by Dr. Ernest Bormann of the speech faculty evolved from play called "The Kingpin" which he wrote as a graduate student at the State University of Iowa.

The drama traces the development of a Southern politician through seven years, during which he misuses his political aptitudes and becomes—instead of a statesman—a demagogue.

Directed by Paul Davee, Don Westbrook portrayed Harry, a hillbilly who was destined for politics, and Betty Caldwell created the part of Honey Lee, who was "somewhat more than a secretary."

Impromptu political rally from "The Bigger They Come."

sigma chi derby

Leaping over bales of hay, scrambling through obstacle courses, and in general taking a lot of punishment, the Zeta Tau Alpha's made their way to first place in the annual Sigma Chi Derby.

Sixteen sororities entered teams in various contests of skill including a key hunt, obstacle race, four-legged race, balloon pop, chicken chase, and egg drop. Trailing the Zetas were Gamma Phi Beta and Alpha Xi Delta, second and third place winners.

The end of a perfect day, for the Zetas, came when their candidate, Ruth Schuman, was announced Queen of the Derby during a dance that night.

Attesting the success of the program were the bruised contestants, hoarse spectators, and a liberally augmented Campus Chest.

Keep going, gal—it's in the bag.

What's the score here?

Sometimes the sorority demands too much.

But, who's watching the obstacle race?

The Egg and I—why aren't they poached?

Somebody drop a frat pin?

Shucks! Ya' dropped it.

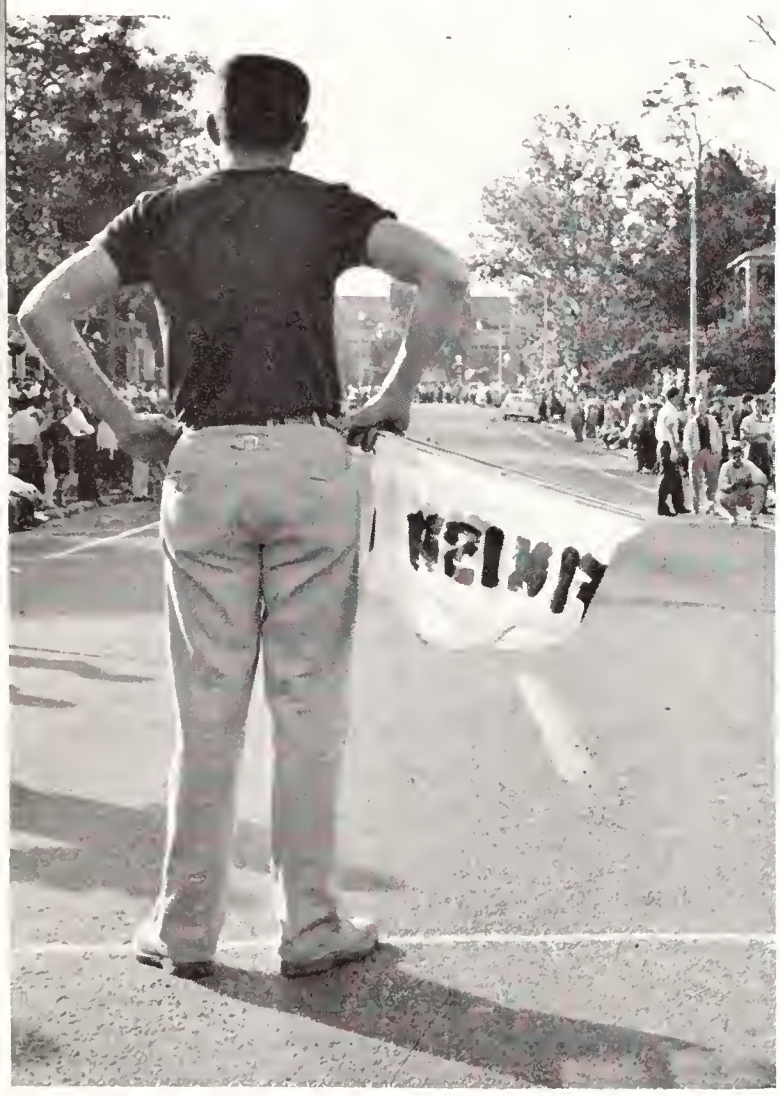
It's real simple—no clutch, no brakes, and the steering wheel doesn't work.

Gotta remember—hang on and aim it at the finish line.

Women drivers, sleek racers, and a perilous downhill descent are the ingredients of FSU's challenge to the Indianapolis Speedway. Sponsored by Alpha Gamma Delta and Phi Delta Theta, the proceeds of the Soapbox Derby are donated to Campus Chest.

Miraculously steering clear of colliding racers, spectators, and the hay-reinforced finish line, Nancy Herold of Gamma Phi Beta piloted her Delta Sigma Pi-built racer to first place in the contest.

soap box derby



Hey, what's the snafu up there?

Sure, they only work downhill, but think of the money you save on gas.

Help! How do ya stop this crate?

Is that grin victorious or groggy?

Good grief! He's on sale!

This is my last dollar.

I don't care what Lincoln said—you're mine.

slave auction

Setting some sort of precedent, the Delta Tau Delta's auctioned off their members in a Slave Auction one afternoon. The project was sparked—not by a desire to pay off their house—but to raise money for Campus Chest. The bargains were snapped up by girls who promptly put their merchandise to work washing cars, waiting on tables, or—for those with a more sadistic bent—backstroking around Wescott Pool.

Other projects to raise money for the Campus Chest included car washings (white walls extra), and Mortar Board's Penny-A-Minute Night, during which women were allowed to stay out an hour beyond closing time for the payment of sixty cents.

Look! A bargain sale at Westcott.

Typical—one worker, three supervisors.

Time means money on Mortarboard's Penny-A-Minute Night.

Why bother? It's going to rain.

Whose idea was this anyway?

homecoming 1956

Getting underway in a big way, Homecoming Weekend started off with the judging of house decorations and the parade on Friday afternoon.

A combination of overtime and ingenuity paid off for the Kappa Alpha's and the Pi Beta Phi's, who copped first place in house decorations with their seascape of "Deacons on the Rocks" and headlines of "Florida State Fruit Fly Destroys Wake Forest," respectively.

While spectators kept an anxious eye on the clouds darkening overhead, the parade started off at Wescott Gate. Among five bands and forty-two floats entered, Kappa Sigma was awarded first place in the division of "most original," and Zeta Tau Alpha was lauded "most beautiful."

Either someone's a biology major, or the Pi Phi's have been reading science fiction stories.

Next year we put steps on the float!

Decorations are up—when does the parade start?

Who wants to watch dirty ol' football players?

They'll never replace the horse.

No! Not men in li'l white coats!

What I like best about Homecoming is the gaity.

I knew we should've walked to the stadium.

What's this about?

It's for me!

Gee, gang . . .

All the planning and variety of a television spectacular went into the Pow Wow on Friday night. Fireworks, a show by the Marching Chiefs—complete with majorettes and the Flying Seminoles—circus acts, cheerleaders, and the crowning of the Homecoming Queen greeted Seminole rooters who inched their way through snarled traffic to Campbell Stadium.

Our feathered friends, left to right, Paula Parsons, Layte Bowden, Anne Munroe.

High spot of the evening came when Layte Bowden was announced 1956 Homecoming Queen, and presented, along with her court, in the traditional Indian head dresses.

FSU's Varsity Debate Team did some fast talking this year, and came up with top honors in the Pensacola Junior College Debate Tournament, and second places in the West Georgia and FSU's Invitational Tournaments.

Among the individual honors garnered by the members of the Debate squad were Arnold Greenfield's superior rating in Alabama's Discussion Tourney; the Azalea Debate Tournament in which he was named first place speaker as Ruby Combs and Jean Bleichnor were awarded titles of superior debators; and the University of Miami's tournament which gave Greenfield second place as individual speaker.

Highlighting the debates on campus was the international discussion led by Fred Roberts and Arnold Greenfield against Britishers Morgan and Davies. Clad in Agnes Scott sweatshirts, the worthy opponents from Cambridge turned the meet into a fast running exchange of repartee. The result? A unanimous resolution that Englishmen do have a sense of humor.

A boat load of gymnasts on their way home from the Olympics in Australia docked at Hawaii, setting the stage for Gymkhana's 1956 production, "Aloha."

In the course of the evening, performances were given on such gymnastic apparatus as the high bar, trampoline, side horse, tumbling mats, parallel bars, and both the still and flying rings. As a highlight of the show, members of the International Students Club gave an exhibition of the Philippine Bamboo Dance—authentically produced and staged by students from the Philippines.

"How's our Hooper Rating?" One wouldn't ordinarily think that the Marching Chiefs gave much thought to their television popularity, but then, this band is hardly ordinary. It all began when the band was scheduled to play for the FSU-Villanova game in Philadelphia. "Being this close to New York," reasoned the Chiefs, "We should naturally make a point of stopping in on the town." So they did. Descending upon the unsuspecting city like the proverbial wolf on the fold, the Chiefs toured New York, gawked at skyscrapers, and eventually wound up—in full view of their proud parents and assorted early birds—on Dave Garroway's "Morning Show."

Head Coach Tom Nugent

The question posed by the smiling, affable Irishman Thomas Norman Nugent, in the spring of 1957 was "to be or not to be."

Was Florida State University to be a nationally known or was it to remain a football "small town"?

However, by 1956, the die was cut and the assembly line was producing football talent. After two years of bigtime football, which saw the Seminoles continue their meteoric rise to the ranks of the major football schools, the powers at Westcott nodded approval to FSU's appearance on the football map.

In February, 1957, Nugent was named Director of Intercollegiate Football, in complete control of a newly-created Football Department. With the tacit approval of the administration, football on the FSU campus was given its most significant boost in the short football history at FSU.

The sport which started as a joke 10 years ago was raised to the status of an independent department of Florida State University.

fsu routs ohio 47-7 for first win

The mysterious offensive punch was an "X" factor as the untried Florida State Seminoles met a highly touted Ohio University eleven in the first game of the 1956 season at Doak S. Campbell stadium.

Commencing their second year of major college football, the Seminoles put up a fancy show of offensive skill as could be found anywhere. Lee Corso, playing his first role as quarterback since his freshman year, and Bobby Renn, transfer halfback who was ineligible during the 1955 season, led the assault on the Ohio team.

Two quick Seminole touchdowns buried the Ohioans and the 18,312 fans watched as the home team shoved over five more touchdowns until the final tally read Florida State 47, Ohio University 7.

Al Pacifico, senior guard, Altoona, Pennsylvania.

Although seemingly worried over the outcome of the game, Coach Nugent's fears proved to be unjustified as his charges chalked up the biggest opening game win in history.

A 36-yard field goal by a second string end with a minute and a half remaining cost FSU a heart-breaking 3-0 defeat after they had a second quarter touchdown called back by a penalty.

Wally Butt's Bulldogs waged an uphill fight against the tight Seminole defense. The Bulldogs could not cross the midfield stripe until late in the first half when they pushed down to the goal.

An abortive FSU scoring attempt was halted by a holding penalty in the first quarter. Bobby Renn took a pitchout from Lee Corso and passed seven yards to Bob Nellums in the end zone. However, a red flag lay on the ground at the seven.

Reserve quarterback Ted Rodrique entered the game late in the second stanza in an attempt to tie the ballgame. He did—within a minute and a half Rodrique found end Bob Nellums in the end zone with an arcing pass.

The Techmen bounced back in the final stanza with two touchdowns and the possession of the ballgame.

Corso bulled over from the 38 for the first tally and Vic Prinzi passed to Bob Nellums for the other tally.

in soggy homecoming

A rain drenched Homecoming crowd of 14,000 sat in a steady drizzle for two hours to watch the Seminoles exact a 14-14 tie from Wake Forest.

All American candidate Bill Barnes scored both Deacon touchdowns to match the Tribe pair. Barnes scored in the first quarter at the climax of a 38 yard scoring drive, then again at the start of the second quarter from the 2½ yard line.

A pass interference penalty gave the Seminoles the ball on the one,where two plays later, Lee Corso crashed for one Tribe tally. Buck Metts scored from the four for the other FSU touchdown.

Late in the final quarter, Bob Nellums' attempted field goal, sailed wide, and the game ended 14-14.

The Seminoles invaded the spacious parenthesis of the huge Philadelphia Municipal Stadium opposing one of the most vicious passing attacks and the most frigid weather they had encountered yet. The Villanova Wildcats, playing in familiar surroundings and familiar weather, threatened early in the first quarter then bogged down.

Northerner Vic Prinzi struck back, scoring in the first period. Reserve quarterback Ted Rodrique that got in the game before the half ended, lofting a scoring pass to end Bob Nellums in his first appearance in the game.

Another pass climaxed the FSU scoring for the evening. Le Corso fired a pass to fullback Joe Holt from the Wildcat 9 to the end zone. "Automatic" Jack Sheppard split the uprights for the Seminoles' third score. The final score . . . 20-13.

It took a long time to get started against Miami's Hurricanes, but when they did, it took a 15-yard penalty to keep them from scoring twice in the fourth quarter.

Time and time again, it was Ted Rodrique who kept FSU rolling in that game before 36,000 in the Orange Bowl. Twice in the final period, Rodrique kept the Seminoles close to the goal line.

First Rodrique threw to Stan Dobosz for the touchdown, but that was called back 15 yards by the illegal shift penalty. The next scoring drive was more successful, however, as Rodrique fired the Seminoles to a first down on the two-yard line. Lee Corso plunged over from there for the only score for the Seminoles.

The Seminoles scored the biggest coup of the year as they scored the first time they got the ball, then went on to overpower Furman, 42-7, before a Dad's Day crowd of 9000.

Lee Corso and Bobby Renn were once again the key to victory as Corso passed for two touchdowns and rushed for 87 yards, while Renn scored twice and ran for 119 yards.

The reliable toe of John Sheppard, which had successfully converted 18 out of 19 extra point attempts, once again made the difference. Late in the fourth quarter, Sheppard kicked the point which gave FSU the game.

Even though, the Seminoles had to fight off an inspired Southern squad to win in the fourth period. In that final period, Southern's huge quarterback Bobby Hughes tossed a dramatic touchdown pass to end Pete Waits at the goal to set up the score. But a high pass from center kept the Southerners from converting successfully.

One of those freak plays that you only read about and never see happen, really happened to the Seminoles against Auburn. The freak accident probably prevented FSU from defeating its first Southeastern Conference team.

Shortly after an Auburn touchdown, FSU halfback Billy Odom took the kickoff and, finding a clear field in front of him, set sail to the other goal. There was one obstacle in front—a teammember, who ran in front of him and tripped him.

The only real Seminole score came midway in the third period as Len Swantic passed to Joe Holt for the score.

"One of the most barren futures ever," predicted many of the FSU basketball critics. With the loss of high scoring guard, Jim Oler, through graduation last year, and only five lettermen returning, basketball coach Bud Kennedy faced his most grueling schedule with a largely untried team.

The big question was—who is going to fill Jim Oler's shoes?

Before the season started, Coach Bud Kennedy said, "I believe the boys are ready, though they are perhaps not working as a unit as much as I'd like to see them yet."

In the early games, lack of unity showed. The Seminoles had but a 2-12 record to show at midseason.

But the Seminoles soon had a new heir apparent to Jim Oler at guard. He was Hugh Durham, who began rewriting the record books with a new school mark for the most points in a single game, against Stetson, in the new men's gymnasium.

Durham put on a 43 point performance, which cracked the old high of 42, set by Oler against Morningside College in 1956.

As a team, the Seminoles galvanized their efforts behind the high scoring Durham. In their last 13 games, the Seminoles caught fire and reeled off eight wins to salvage a 9-17 season record.

Although the final record does not look particularly distinguishing, a number of high spots may be noticed. Early in the season, the luckless Seminoles traveled down to Gainesville to meet the high riding Gators. With an 0-4 record, the Tribe faced a difficult task against the Gators, who had yet to lose.

Somehow, against the current of partisan Gator jeers and taunts, Bud Kennedy's charges checked the Gator attack and mounted their own attack to hold a slim lead for 37 minutes of the game.

Slowly in the waning minutes, the Gators hacked away at the Tribe lead, until with three minutes to go, the Gators forged ahead. Two and one half minutes later, the Seminoles rebounded into a tie at 65-65.

Then with only seven seconds left, U of F forward, Joe Hobbs heaved in a one-handed push shot from near half court—and that was the game.

Final statistics show that Hugh Durham became the second high scorer in FSU history to score more than 500 points in a season. His total of 509 tops the previous sophomore standard of 468 set in 1952-53 by Ham Wernke for a 19.5 average per game.

Bobby Waits was second high scorer with a 14.5 average, and led the team in free throw accuracy with a .802 percentage.

Center Larry Strom led the team in percentages of successful field goal attempts with a .514 average. The Jacksonville junior was also third high scorer.

With a 19-6 record in tow, the 1957 version of the baseball squad looks forward to the forthcoming NCAA district tournament with real lust in their eyes.

Winners of the Florida Intercollegiate Baseball championship and their own Florida State Invitational Baseball tourney, the Tribe ranks as one of the top contenders in the South. Although a shade shy of the 1956 mark of 24-5, the Tribe baseballers notched three new records in the record book.

The team logged 16 home runs as against 12 in 1956. They stole 63 bases and scored 164 runs for two other records.

Bantam Dick Howser again led the team batting average. Howser hit a lusty .364, with 29 RBI's. Owen McCarron led the team RBI department with 36 and hit .353.

Moundsmen Jerry Boxer and Jack Bristol sparked the pitching department. Boxer finished with a 6-2 and a 1.85 earned run average, while Bristol won six and lost only one.

The 1957 mermen topped three existing records. A 200 yard medley relay team of Ryan Ray, Joel Jacobs, Don Lewis, and Ken Abbott set the record in that event and went on to the NCAA championship representing FSU. A new 400 yard free-style record of 3:33.7 was set by Ken Abbott, Don Lewis, Ryan Ray, and Jim Julian. Jim Julian bettered a six year old mark in setting a new record in the 100 yard freestyle with 52.9.

Not only did the 1957 mermen win the Florida AAU, they also took the Georgia AAU as well. The Tribesmen topped Florida 86-78 in the Florida tourney. During the regular season, the FSU swimmers split with the Gators, winning 46-40, and losing, 51-35.

seminole's rafael lecuona goes to olympics

One of the top athletes at Florida State University and a participant in the 1956 Olympic's gymnastics competition, is a bantam (5' 5" and 128 pounds) citizen of Cuba. Rafael Lecuona of Havana, rates as one of the outstanding gymnasts of the world. Three-time captain of the Cuban Olympic squad, and recently voted his country's outstanding gymnast, Lecuona graduates after four years as captain of the Florida State University gymnastics team.

As most average college gym teams go, one star should be enough. But not for gymnastics coach Hartley Price; Dr. Price keeps a stable full of gymnastics talent. Certainly it is not difficult to see why a Price-coached team have managed to remain in the top five teams in the nation.

A glance over the stars Dr. Price has developed reads like a record book. To get some perspective of the 1956-57 squad, we must know some former stars who have gained fame for FSU.

The original Florida State University gymnastics star was Bill Roetzheim, who won five individual national titles in 1951 and eight titles over a period of three years at FSU.

One of the members of the present team, Jack Miles, won the NAAU flying rings title in 1951 and tied for the national all-around in 1956.

According to some, Don Holder, a member of this year's varsity, is one of the greatest gymnasts in U.S. history. Holder placed on the U.S. Olympic squad as a freshman in 1952. He made the Pan American team in 1956 and stands as one of the Seminoles greatest point makers ever.

Three seniors who Dr. Price rates very high are Jamile Ashmore, Joe Taylor and Ronnie Amster. The bouncing Texan, Ashmore, won the NCAA Calisthenics Championship in 1956. Tumbling is his specialty, and he likes to teach tumbling to children.

Joe Taylor is hard to imagine as a gymnastics champion. Tiny, only 5'9" and 140 pounds, Taylor won the Florida and Georgia flying rings title in 1953.

The third standout is Ronnie Amster, another bantam (5'7" and 140 pounds) from Chicago, Illinois, who won the NCAA high bar competition in 1956.

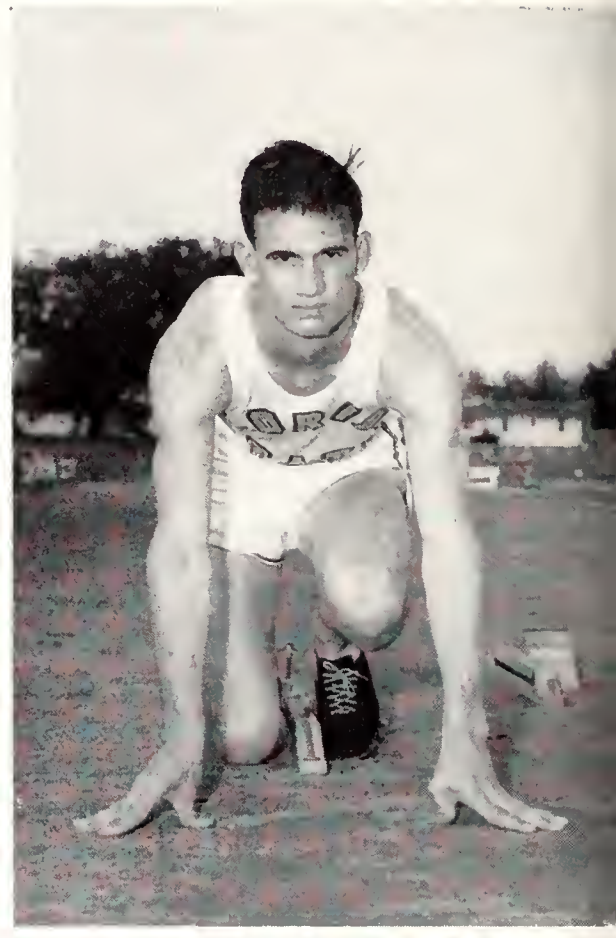
Javelin hurler Jimmy Harrell tenses before releasing the throw which may top 190 yards.

The year 1957 may well be remembered as the "great track year" for track mentor Mike Long. With his three high point men of 1956 returning, Long is looking forward to his best year at FSU.

Jack Terwilliger, high point man last year, Joe Davis, who specializes in the low hurdles and the broad jump, and Miler Mike Conley, who holds the school record for the mile, head the track congregation this year.

The Seminoles took the non-conference division of the Atlantic Coast Conference Indoor Games on February 23 in their second effort this year. They followed that victory with a 102-36 defeat of Mississippi Southern here on March 16.

Possible record breakers on this year's squad are Lloyd Lassen, who set the school mark in the high jump at 6'2", Don Ayres, Warren Strictland, and Richard Elwood in the pole vault, and Wes Minton, who holds the school record in the high and low hurdles.



A talented as well as versatile star, Seminoles captain Joe Davis performs in the sprints, broad jump, and low hurdles.

volleyball

One of the most significant facts to be found about the FSU volleyball squad is the multiplicity of past and present All-American players. No other athletic teams at FSU can claim as many All-Americans as the volleyball squad.

All-Americans on the present FSU squad include two-time All-American Bernie McCann and Fehmi Zeko who was named to the first team All-American team in 1956.

Perhaps most of the credit can be attributed to Coach Bill Odeneal, who himself was quite a volleyball player in his college days.

In charting the brief history of the FSU volleyball fortunes, one can readily note the steady rise of the volleyball squad from a name on a score card in 1949 to the National Intercollegiate Champions in 1955 and a prominent contender ever since.

A lack of experienced men is the biggest shortcoming of the 1957 edition of the tennis team, Coach Keith Pitchford complains. The two top men of last year's team graduated and only five lettermen returned. But, of the five who returned, four were freshmen in 1956. Only Sonny Sellers has had more than one year's experience on the team.

The five lettermen, besides Sellers, were Fred Sherrett, Lex Hester, Frank Bryan, and Jim Maddox.

The supreme goal, the highest achievement of all the brass shining, mirror gazing cadet officers of Army ROTC is to be selected as a tap of the National Society of Scabbard and Blade. It is composed of men who have proved, in the eyes of the military, outstanding leadership and intelligence.

The national military honorary society now boasts a membership of over 68,000 men spread over 96 colleges and universities. The principal aim is to promote a feeling of unity among military leaders and to maintain a high standard in the military activities of the corps.

This year Scabbard and Blade was responsible for making the annual Military Ball an occasion to be remembered. The highlight of the Ball for which Ray Eberle furnished the music was the crowning of Miss Barbara Bishop as the 1957 ROTC Queen.

Alpha Delta is FSU's chapter of Gamma Alpha Chi, Women's National Professional Advertising Fraternity. It was founded locally in 1952, to give its members experience in advertising and the opportunity to meet people in the advertising profession. Each Spring it selects an outstanding student and woman in the advertising field. It also assists with the School of Business Reception and the Job-Getting Seminar. This year it sponsored a fashion show for Campus Chest.

Alpha Delta received second place for chapter achievement at the Gamma Alpha Chi national convention this year. It also placed second at the Fourth District Advertising Federation of America meeting for advertising achievements.
